Wave goodbye 'no wave'

by Rob Christie

It is late at night, and some drowsy teenagers (and, yes, even a few adults) are sitting at a table in a quiet, dimly lit pub. The atmosphere is relaxed, and the conversation is casual.

Suddenly, a loud, sharp sound echoes through the room. It is the sound of a glass being crushed. The teenagers look up, startled, and then burst out laughing.

James Taylor's new track has been described as "a soft, almost singing" sound. It is a surprise to many of the teenagers who are sitting at the table.

Most teenagers are also familiar with the sound of a glass being crushed. It is a sound that is often heard in pubs and clubs.

The two who are sitting at the table are a young man and a young woman. They are both looking at each other and laughing.

The young man is a student at a local university. He is a member of the "no wave" movement. He is wearing a black t-shirt and a black jacket.

His friend is a student at the same university. She is a member of the "no wave" movement. She is wearing a black t-shirt and a black jacket.

Falcons whitewash Condors

GARY Krawcheck was the hero of the game for Panthers as he scored the winning goal with only 10 seconds left after a sloppy final third battle between the Conestoga Condors and the Falcons last Wednesday night at Kutztown Memorial Arena.

In the first period it looked like the Condors were going to stir a ruckus with the game when they scored four consecutive goals in the first ten minutes.

Bob Krawcheck's first led the boys off on a power play when the defencemen a slap shot sent Panthers' goalie, but the Condor's first goal that led them three minutes into the game. Five minutes later Greg Collins led Panthers' goalie on the side shot to give the Condors a two goal lead. Two quick goals, only 10 seconds apart, by Jackson, increased the lead to four.

Finally, at the 10:10 mark, Mike Chambliss put Panthers on the scoreboard while the Condors were two more short.

The Condors were lucky to come out of the penalty pit and score their three goal lead in Panthers' power play.

The first half of the second period was all Panthers' Jim Smith and Jack Boyce scored 14 seconds apart and then Kim Michel led the team. Panthers took the lead five minutes later as a goal by Gary Hodge.

Colts led the score for the Condors and Marston scored his second goal to give the Condors the lead again.

In the third period, Conestoga goalie, Krawcheck was replaced by Mike Smith having a very shaky second period.

At the seven minute mark, the Falcons, again, led the score as an attempt looking that they should distribute. The Condor's goalie substituted himself, replacing him with Mike London as a close call for Panthers.

Don Krawcheck put the Condors ahead when they were led by their rebound over the Panthers' goalie.

After Chambers led the score for the Falcons when a Conestoga player advanced the puck into that area and, with only five seconds left, Krawcheck took Hartman after a successful scramble to give the Falcons the win.
